교과개요

In this course, we will explore key questions in the Philosophy of Mind: Is the mind non-physical or reducible to the physical? What is the relationship between the mind and body? How does the mind differ from software on a computer? Can artificial intelligence embody the mind? What is the nature of consciousness? How does consciousness arise from purely physical objects? Our goal is to deepen our understanding of the mind in search of answers to these questions.

수업방법

The course is divided into two parts: (1) The lecturer will present each topic covered in the course. (2) The students will prepare answers to study questions in the textbook and present them.
