

Academic English: Research and Writing (GC102-02)

학기	2026년 2학기
담당교수	Benjamin Wilson Riley
이수구분	공통필수
학점	2.0
강의시간	화13:00-16:00(E7 - L27)
강의실
소속	기초학부

교과개요

This course is designed to help students develop the English skills needed for academic and professional purposes. It aims to provide students with an opportunity to familiarize themselves with the use of English in a variety of stimulating topics. Students will work towards improving their ability to work with the de facto language of international academia: English.

교과목표

By the end of this course, students will learn and be able to:

Find and critically evaluate sources in English.

Understand and critically summarize articles in English.

Synthesize multiple sources to support or refute a claim or argument.

Formally communicate academic research and writing.

Use language and organizational skills for writing an evidence-based persuasive essay.

Behavior and Performance Objectives:

By the end of this course, students will be able to:

Actively reflect on their learning progress, evaluate their strengths and weaknesses in English, and take corrective action as required.

Think critically when responding to texts and developing their own thoughts and opinions in both English and their native language.

Effectively work in partnership with others to achieve collective goals through working as a member of a small group to complete assessments and tasks.

Communicate their thoughts and opinions to others more clearly and completely in English and respond to others' opinions thoughtfully and appropriately for international communication.

Present the process and results of resource evaluations and summarizations.

Write an evidence-based persuasive essay using relevant information and logic that follows academic writing standards.

학습윤리

Academic dishonesty in any form will not be tolerated. Violations of these rules will result in a record of the violation being placed in your file. You may also receive a failing grade for the course. Confirmation of such incidents can also result in expulsion from the university.

Academic Dishonesty includes:

Unauthorized assistance: Using unauthorized materials, information, or study aids in any academic exercise (unless specifically authorized by your professor).

Presenting material (through written, visual, electronic, or oral means) which has not been studied or learned, but rather was obtained through someone else's efforts and used as part of an examination, course assignment, or project.

Falsifying or misrepresenting your academic work.

Plagiarism: In which another's work or ideas are used without indication of the source, thereby conveying the impression that such work is the student's own. (go to <http://www.plagiarism.org/> or <https://www.copykiller.co.kr/notice> to get more information on plagiarism and how to avoid it)

Multiple Submissions: Submitting the same work for credit more than once without the express permission of the professor.

Any student who knowingly helps another student violate these academic behavior standards is also in violation of the standards.

교과정책(방침)

Attendance Policy

All classes are mandatory and must be attended. If you are unable to attend class, you must inform your professor at least 24 hours prior to your intended absence. If you have a reasonable excuse for your absence you will be given an excused absence. An excused absence does not negatively affect your final grade, however repeated absences (excused or not) may result in a warning from your professor, after which any further absences may lead to being awarded a failing or incomplete grade in the course.

If you miss class due to ill-health, provide a medical certificate to your professor on the first class meeting after your return to receive your excused absence. If you are absent without a reasonable excuse, you will be marked absent from the class meeting. If you are marked absent 4 or more times during the semester you will receive a failing grade for the course.

Please arrive on time for all class meetings. Three late arrivals will result in being marked as an unexcused absence. Arriving more than 20 minutes after the start of class will automatically be marked as an unexcused absence.

Late Work Policy

There are no make-ups for work completed in class, such as group work or presentations. Any work not completed during class time must be finished and turned in by the due date set by your professor.

If you are absent (even if you have a reasonable excuse), it is your responsibility to find out what work was assigned during the classes you missed and to complete that work by the due date. Failure to submit work by the due date is unacceptable, and the work will not receive any feedback.

Group Work Policy

Everyone must take part in group projects. For daily work throughout the semester, you will be assigned to a group. All members of a group will receive the same score. In other words, the assignment is given 1 score, and everyone in the group receives it. For larger assignments and projects, you may work in groups but be assessed individually.

Student/Professor Communication

If you have a question regarding the course administration or course content you should:

Ask your professor during or after class. Because it is common for many students to have the same questions, asking in class allows every student to get the answer at the same time.

Ask your professor via email if you have a private question.

Your professor will designate time each week specifically for helping students.

Your professor will post an appointment sheet on or near their office door. To make an appointment, sign up for the time you wish to visit.

Alternatively, you can send an email to your professor to make an appointment.

Outside of office hours, your professor may be busy attending to other duties, so they may not be available to meet.