교과개요

This course introduces North Korean society and culture from an anthropological perspective. Moving beyond political and security-centered approaches, it explores how history, ideology, institutions, education, art, migration, and everyday life shape North Korean society. Through ethnographic and historical perspectives, students will critically examine diverse representations of North Korea and develop a more balanced understanding of the country.

교과목표

By the end of this course, students will be able to:

- Understand the historical and cultural foundations of North Korean society.
- Analyze North Korea from an anthropological perspective.
- Examine major themes in North Korean society, including ideology, education, art, and migration.
- Critically evaluate diverse representations of North Korea.
- Develop a balanced and academically informed understanding of North Korea.

수업방법

This course combines lectures, class discussions, individual presentations, and written assignments. Lectures introduce the historical, political, and cultural contexts of North Korea, while class discussions encourage students to critically engage with the course materials. Students will also complete a film analysis assignment and deliver an individual presentation, applying anthropological concepts to critically examine representations of North Korea in film.
